

“Recovering death benefits for Public safety officers at the Federal, state, and local level”

Public Safety Survivor Benefits (PSSB)

All give some, and some give all... what happens to the family in the wake of such a loss?

DID YOU KNOW that if a public safety employee is killed in the line of duty, or dies from a work-related event or illness, that their family may be entitled to substantial benefits from the federal and/or state government?

DID YOU KNOW that these benefits may include*:

- Up to $650,000 in cash to support the surviving family
- Paid-for public college tuition and preferred admissions for surviving dependents
- Paid medical benefits

DID YOU KNOW that there are time limits on claiming these benefits? Some claims must be made within 6 months of the public safety employee’s death.

DID YOU KNOW that the process for claiming rightfully deserved benefits is tedious at best and can often be frustrated by the layers of government bureaucracy.

DID YOU KNOW the compassionate and dedicate folks at PSS Benefits, LLC are here to help deserving family members claim the benefits they are due.

DID YOU KNOW that because of improper filing and a lack of understanding on how to navigate through this bureaucratic system there are over 700 families without the benefits that they deserve!

Public Safety Survivor Benefits, LLC (PSSB) is comprised of former public Safety officers with over 20 years of public service and over 15 years of experience recovering death benefits for public safety survivors at the federal, state, and local level. We have experience in testifying in front of the Department of Justice while defending the rights of public safety survivors. Our cases typically involve firefighters and law enforcement officers; in recent news, the emergence of new laws that protect non-government employees, such as EMTs and Paramedics, has broadened our scope of service. We are committed to serving the families of these fallen heroes.

As a part of those called to service, custody staff and supervisors are entitled to the same benefits as their counterparts in the field. All public safety officers play a vital role in the maintenance of safety in our country; as such they are entitled equally to benefits.

-JENNIFER HOBBS, SURVIVOR
